Meet Adopt A Boxer Rescue

AABR is a collective effort of savvy volunteers working together to rescue, rehabilitate, and re-home unwanted and abandoned Boxer and Boxer-mix dogs.

AABR concentrates its efforts in the tri-state area and Pennsylvania, generally within three to four hours of NYC. The group provides hands-on rescue and medical care, as well as educational outreach to enlighten people to the realities of pet guardianship and the importance of spaying and neutering.

The group focuses its expertise on pure breed Boxers and Boxer mixes, but its volunteers have been known to rescue Frenchies, Bulldogs, and even a Bassett Hound or two. All of the group's activities' are performed by volunteers who operate out of their homes in the Northeast, and, except for medical cases that require hospitalization, almost all AABR dogs are cared for by foster families.

"Without volunteers, there is no rescue," co-founder Jamie Meadow exclaims. "We have the best, most devoted group of foster homes, transporters, application reviewers, and case workers around.

Adopt A Boxer Rescue is a non-profit, charitable 501(c) (3) organization, and a member of the NYC Mayor's Alliance and the New York Breed Rescue Network (NYBRN) from their inception.
